

Dear Madam, Sir,

I have already written about this before. Yet, this season 27 whales were killed in atrocious circumstances.

How is it possible that in the 21st century, Iceland remains one of the only countries to accept the killing of endangeries species? Their key role has been recognized in the oceans and related ecosystems.

How can you let the voluntary and indiscriminatory killing of such animals? Furthermore, you have seen it with the recent killings: it is not possible to maintain animal welfare and kill large whales like this.

Why do you still allow whaling, while the majority of the Icelandic public do not support whaling continuing?

I do condemn such barbaric acts, and I hope you will too, by passing this bill.

Kind regards,

Sophie Timmermans
