

Dear Madam and Sir,

I always wanted to visit Iceland because your nature is stunning. But there are several serious concerns depending on your animal welfare laws like blood mares and especially the whaling which I pledge you to stop for good. It mitigates your good international image and whales are really important for the marine ecosystem. Additionally, the whaling footage shows that it is not possible to maintain animal welfare by killing large whales because it is not possible to kill them within 60 seconds what you define as humane and okay. Furthermore the demand for whale meat in Iceland is really low and this meat contains mercury and other toxins so it's not healthy at all and shouldn't be allowed to consume.

As you can see, there are many disadvantages in terms of whaling and only good for one person. So, it's time to end whaling for good!

Yours sincerely,
Sarah Bußmann
